If you arrive in Dresden by plane, you may take the airport-city-liner, a small white/yellow bus which leaves the airport every 30 minutes. It costs 8,00 DM. Get off at Dresden Hauptbahnhof (Main Railway Station).

If you arrive in Dresden by train, note that Dresden has 2 train stations: Dresden Hauptbahnhof and Dresden Neustadt. Get off at Dresden Hauptbahnhof.

To the Max Planck Institute: From Dresden Hauptbahnhof you have to take tram nr. 3 in direction Plauen until the last stop ("Plauen"). The institute is to the left of the stop, in bright orange.

To the hotel: From Dresden Hauptbahnhof you have to take the trams nr. 9 or 26 in direction Kleinzschachwitz or Johannstadt until Lennéplatz where you have to change from the tram to the bus nr. 75 to Kauschaer Str. A taxi from the Main Railway Station may cost 20 - 30 DM.

From the hotel to the MPI: We will arrange for transportation to the institute in the morning. To reach the MPI from the hotel you may take the bus nr. 75 to Wasaplatz and there you have to change to bus nr. 61 (in direction Löbtau) to Nürnberger Platz. From here you might take tram nr. 3 in direction Plauen until the last stop Plauen or just walk along the Münchner Straße (approx. 8 minutes).

Tickets: You will have to buy your ticket before taking the tram or the bus. Ticket-selling-machines are in front of the railway station. Cost: One-hour-ticket: DM 2,50; ticket for a week: DM 22,00; Strip-ticket with 7 strips (one strip for up to 4 stops, two strips for one hour, travel interruptions allowed): DM 8,50
